

St Bernadette's Catholic Primary School - Elm Australia

Gospel Value
Stewardship

What I should know-

I live in the United Kingdom. I live in England. That I live in Lancaster-knowing the human and physical geography of the area.

Key Knowledge

- Australia is both a country and a continent.
- There are four main landform regions in Australia which have been formed through the physical processes of movements in the Earth's crust, river erosion and changes in climate and sea level.
- Australia does experience some extreme weather conditions, for example cyclones, bushfires, and drought.
- Today there are around 23 million people living in Australia.
- Rural areas are less densely populated than urban areas. Urban areas include towns and cities. There are more homes, jobs, buildings and services available in urban areas.

Key Vocabulary

- Equator- An imaginary circle around the Earth.
- Location- A place or position.
- Human characteristics- Man-made features.
- Physical characteristics- Features found naturally in nature.
- Populated- How many people live there.
- Coastal- An area of land close to the sea.
- Inland- An area of land away from the sea.

